INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The fund seeks to provide inflation protection and income by investing primarily in inflation-protected debt securities.

Normally invests at least 80% of its net assets in inflation-protected bonds, with emphasis on bonds issued by the U.S. Treasury (e.g. Treasury inflation-protected securities, or TIPS) but similar bonds issued by U.S. government agencies and corporations may also be purchased.

May invest up to 20% of its net assets in fixed-income securities that are not indexed to inflation or in preferred stocks and convertible securities rated A or better.

BENEFITS AND RISKS

Offers a way to get income potential and protect against inflation by helping preserve the purchasing power of your investment.

Invests in inflation-protected securities; the face value of these bonds and their income will rise with inflation.

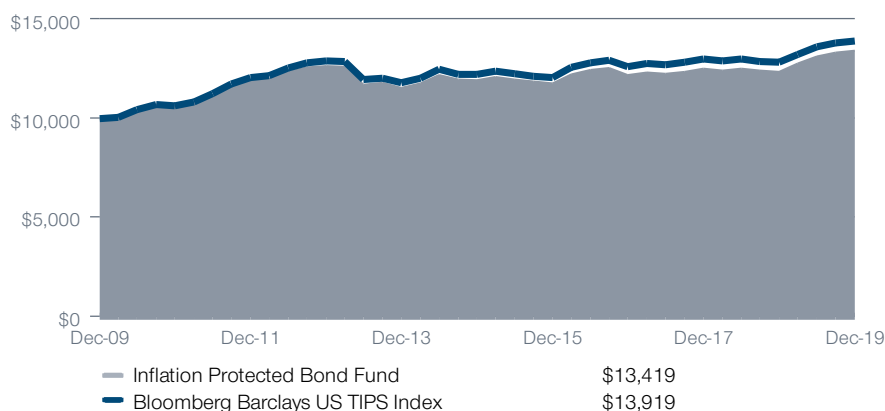

Deflationary conditions could cause the fund's principal and income to decrease in value.

Yield and share price will vary with interest rate changes. If interest rates rise significantly from current levels, bond fund total returns will decline and may even turn negative in the short term.

An investment in the fund is not insured or guaranteed by the U.S. government.

CUMULATIVE RETURNS

Growth of $10,000

Performance data quoted represents past performance and is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain the most recent month-end performance, visit troweprice.com. Consider the investment objectives, risks, and charges and expenses carefully before investing. For a prospectus or, if available, a summary prospectus containing this and other information, call 1-855-405-6488 or visit troweprice.com. Read it carefully. The average annual total return figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any. The fund(s) may have other share classes available that offer different investment minimums and fees. See the prospectus for details. Yields have not been adjusted for inflation. Because inflation fluctuates, it cannot be projected into the future precisely enough to be included in the yield calculation.

**U.S. government agency securities are issued or guaranteed by a U.S. government agency, and may include conventional pass-through securities and collateralized mortgage obligations; unlike Treasuries, government agency securities are not issued directly by the U.S. government and are generally unrated but may have credit support from the U.S. Treasury (e.g., FHLMC and FNMA issues) or a direct government guarantee (e.g., GNMA issues). Therefore, this category may include rated and unrated securities.

By definition, the beta of the benchmark is 1.00. An investment with a beta of 1.10 is expected to perform 10% better than the index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets. Usually, higher betas represent riskier investments. Figures are calculated using monthly data and are net of fees.

Additional Disclosures

Diversification exhibits may not add to 100% due to exclusion or inclusion of cash.

Sources for credit quality: Moody's Investors Service; if Moody's does not rate a security, then Standard & Poor's (S&P) is used as a secondary source. When available, T. Rowe Price will use Fitch for securities that are not rated by Moody's or S&P. T. Rowe Price does not evaluate these ratings, but simply assigns them to the appropriate credit quality category as determined by the rating agency. T.
