Emerging Markets Corporate Bond Fund

a sub-fund of T. Rowe Price Funds SICAV
Class A (ISIN: LU0596127869)

Management company: T. Rowe Price (Luxembourg) Management S.à r.l.

Objectives and Investment Policy

Objective To maximise the value of its shares through both growth in the value of, and income from, its investments.

Portfolio securities The fund is actively managed and invests mainly in a diversified portfolio of corporate bonds from emerging market issuers.

The fund may use derivatives for hedging, efficient portfolio management and investment purposes. The fund may also use derivatives to create synthetic short positions in currencies and debt securities. The fund may use total return swaps (TRS).

Investment process The investment manager's approach is based on proprietary fundamental research and relative value analysis. The investment manager seeks to add value primarily through security selection and sector allocation. The investment process places a strong emphasis on risk management practices and portfolio diversification to manage the overall risk profile. The investment manager also assesses environmental, social and governance ("ESG") factors with particular focus on those considered most likely to have a material impact on the performance of the holdings or potential holdings in the funds' portfolio. These ESG factors, which are incorporated into the investment process alongside financials, valuation, macro-economics and other factors, are components of the investment decision. Consequently, ESG factors are not the sole driver of an investment decision but are instead one of several important inputs considered during investment analysis.

Benchmark J.P. Morgan CEMBI Broad Diversified. The investment manager is not constrained by any country, sector and/or individual security weightings relative to the benchmark index and has complete freedom to invest in securities that do not form part of the benchmark. However, at times, market conditions may result in the fund's performance being more closely aligned with that of the benchmark index.

Benchmark use

- Performance comparison.
- Reference portfolio for risk management method (relative VaR).

Portfolio reference currency USD

The Sub-Fund may appeal to investors who:

- are interested in a combination of income and investment growth
- are looking to diversify their investments, in particular existing investments in developed markets

Risk and Reward Profile

The value of an investment in the fund can go up and down. When you sell your shares, they may be worth less than what you paid for them. If your currency as an investor is different from the subscription currency of the fund, changes in currency exchange rates could reduce any investment gains or increase any investment losses.

The risk/reward rating above is based on medium-term volatility (actual or estimated variations in the fund's share price over five years) but is not a reliable indicator of future risk reward profile.

The lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment.

The fund is in the category shown because it invests in a segment of the market that is moderately volatile.

The fund's risk level reflects the following:

- As a class, bonds carry higher risks than money market securities and lower risks than equities.
- Emerging markets tend to be more volatile than developed markets.

MAIN RISKS TYPICALLY ASSOCIATED WITH ORDINARY MARKET CONDITIONS

The fund's main risks are at least partially reflected in the risk/reward number. The most important of these risks are:

- understand the risks and can accept the volatility associated with investing in emerging markets as well as the risks of using derivatives.

TERMS TO UNDERSTAND

Actively managed In an actively managed fund, the investment manager has discretion over the composition of its portfolio, subject to the stated investment objectives and policy, and may have varying degrees of freedom to deviate from the constituent holdings, country or sector weightings of any benchmark index.

Bonds Securities that represent an obligation to repay a debt, with interest.

Derivatives Financial instruments whose value is linked to one or more rates, indexes, share prices or other values.

Synthetic short position An investment position created using derivatives the value of which moves in the opposite direction of a security's price.

Emerging markets Countries whose securities markets are less established than those of developed countries. Examples include many countries in Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe and South America.

Hedging Seeking to reduce or cancel out exposure to various investment risks.

Designed for Investors who plan to invest for the medium to long term.

Income generated by the fund is reinvested and included in the value of its shares.

Orders to buy, switch and redeem shares are ordinarily processed any day that is a full bank business day in Luxembourg.

Orders received and accepted by 13:00 Luxembourg time on a business day will generally be processed that day.

Capital erosion When insufficient income is received by the fund, charges may be paid against capital. Investors should be aware that if deductions are made from capital, this will result in capital erosion and constrain capital growth.

China Interbank Bond Market A fund investing in such a market is subject to liquidity, volatility and regulatory risks. Furthermore, the fund may incur significant trading and realisation costs and may even suffer losses when selling such investments. It may also be exposed to risks associated with settlement procedures and default of counterparties and the risks of default or errors on the part of the onshore settlement agent.

High Yield bonds or debt securities (also known as below investment grade securities) are generally subject to higher yields but as well to greater risks (i.e. greater risk of default of the issuer to meet its payment obligation, higher liquidity risk and greater sensitivity to market conditions and fluctuations).

Emerging markets Emerging markets are less established than developed markets and therefore involve higher risks.

Frontier markets The securities markets of small nations that are at an earlier stage of economic and political development relative to more mature emerging markets typically have limited investability and liquidity.

MAIN RISKS TYPICALLY ASSOCIATED WITH UNUSUAL MARKET CONDITIONS

Unusual market conditions or large unpredictable events can amplify the fund's main risks. They can also trigger other risks, such as:

Contingent convertible bonds These may be subject to additional risks linked to: capital structure inversion, trigger levels, coupon cancellations, call extensions, yield/valuation, conversions, write downs, industry concentration and liquidity, among others.

Counterparty An entity with which the fund does business could become unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.

Default The issuers of certain bonds could become unable to make payments on their bonds.

Derivatives Certain derivatives could behave unexpectedly or could expose the fund to losses that are significantly greater than the cost of the derivative.

Liquidity Any security could become hard to value or to sell at a desired time and price.

Operational A fund may be subject to errors affecting valuation, pricing, accounting, tax reporting, financial reporting, and trading, among other things. In addition, in any market, but especially in emerging markets, there could be losses due to fraud, corruption, political or military actions, the seizure of assets, or other irregular events.

A more detailed description of the risks that apply to the fund is set out in the section "Risk Descriptions" in the prospectus.
